The post-placement visits (3) must find the placement satisfactory, and any costs must be fully paid, before Adoption-Link can recommend finalization of the adoption. I agree to notify Adoption-Link if there is a significant change in my family circumstances. If I need to de-activate my application temporarily, I may re-activate it within three years of the date of the original application and fees paid to date will be applied to whatever the current fees may be. Adoption-Link reserves the right to remove the child from me at any point during the post-placement period if it becomes necessary to protect the best interest of the child. I agree that I shall not attempt to see the child referred to me until surrenders for adoption have been signed and the agency has notified me that I am free to come and pick up the child. Exceptions will be considered only in the case of a special needs child.

There are also other fees that are not payable to Adoption-Link, which should be considered. These fees can change at any time but expected fees for an attorney can range from $1,500 – 2,300. Interim care fees, after the birth of the baby, if required, are $50 per day plus food, clothing and/or transportation. Federal Express charges can be $25-$100. There is a $40-$80 search charge for the Putative Father Registry. Some children might require a well-baby exam ranging between $100-200. A witness may be necessary for $25. Travel and accommodation expenses are your responsibility. If you choose to contribute legally allowable expenses to the birthmother from $50-$4,000, these funds are not re-imbursible.

Note: All fees subject to change without notice. The U.S. income tax credit for adoption-related expenses has been increased to a maximum of $10,160 for any adoption finalized after Jan. 1, 2002, for families earning less than $152,390 per year. Families earning between $152,390 and $192,390 receive a graduated credit.
